Pull test:

Test method: According to the client's requirement, the base plate of the hook was fixed to the wood with three 8*100 wood screws, while the wood was fixed to the test bench (see photo 2); Increase the tensile force as 5mm/min until the hook has obvious deformation. Record the force.

Test result: When the force increased to 4.91kN, hook presented obvious deformation (see photo 3). Note: Screws and wood are provided by the customer.
